

Supplementary Faculty Advisor Profiles

This document outlines the academic and professional backgrounds of the senior faculty advisors supporting the local section.

Full Name	Academic Background	Professional Focus	Specialized Sector	Achievements
Prof. Diaa Khalil	Ph.D. in Integrated Optics, Grenoble Institute of Technology (INPG), France (1993); B.Sc. in Electronics & Communications Engineering, Ain Shams University (1984)	Academic Research & Industry Track (Professor, Former Head of ECE, and Former Acting Dean at Ain Shams University; Chief Scientist and Former CTO at Si-Ware Systems)	Integrated Photonics, Optical MEMS, Integrated Optics, RF Photonics, and Applied Spectroscopy	Author of 400+ publications; Holder of 25+ international patents; Recipient of the Egyptian State Appreciation Prize in Engineering, Egyptian State Incentive Prize, and SPIE Prism Award; Listed among Stanford University's Top 2% Scientists.
Prof. Yasser Sabry	Ph.D. in MEMS and Photonics, Université Paris-Est, ESIEE Paris, France (2013); B.Sc. in Electronics & Communications Engineering, Ain Shams University (2005)	Academic Research & Industry Track (Professor of Photonics and MEMS at Ain Shams University; Senior Staff MEMS Engineer at Si-Ware Systems)	MEMS, Micro-Photonics, Bio-Photonics, Fiber Optic Sensors, and Optical Microsystems	Contributor to the SiMOST™ technology and NeoSpectra™ MEMS FTIR spectrometer; Recipient of the SPIE Photonics West Best Student Paper Award and National Radio Science Conference Best Paper Award; Member of the SPIE Prism Award-winning team.
Prof. Salem Hegazy	Ph.D. in Quantum Optics, Zewail City	Academic Research Track (Professor of Quantum Optics at Cairo University and Zewail City)	Quantum Optics, Quantum Information, Nonlinear Optics, and Photonic Quantum Technologies	Recipient of the State Encouragement Award in Physical Engineering Sciences (2019), State Award for Scientific and Technological Innovation (2021), Cairo University Encouragement Award (2018), Shield of the Physics Department from TSLS (2018), and Excellent TA Award from Cairo University (2011).